

Objectifs de discussion du groupe de travail :

1. Discuter et clarifier les rôles et responsabilités du HSS central et des IDH et G2G Ops dans la fourniture de différents types d'assistance technique aux niveaux central et régional/district.
2. Coordonner le soutien fourni aux bénéficiaires de G2G, y compris les régions non-G2G-non-IDH qui reçoivent un financement important pour le paludisme ; identifier les lacunes et les collaborations potentielles.

Scope of Technical Assistance

Texte pertinent de l'APS à noter

- Que se passe-t-il lorsqu'une région passe de l'IDH à G2G ?
 - From the APS: Continued technical assistance by IDH is envisioned during the first year following a region's transition to G2G. In subsequent years, USAID and the MOH will determine to what extent continued technical assistance to G2G regions is required.
- Component 1 will focus on central health systems strengthening activities and will not have staff at the regional level. Component 1 will support central level entities to fulfill their technical assistance and oversight role of the five IDH medical regions and the G2G regions. Component 1 interventions will be limited to the regional level and will not support district level implementation. To avoid duplication of effort, further refinement of the distinction between interventions carried out by Component 1 versus Component 2 will occur during the co-creation process.
- Component 2 Integrated District Health will provide integrated support in MCH, FP, Malaria, and Nutrition in five focus regions: Diourbel, Kedougou, Kolda, Sedhiou, and Tambacounda. Support will be tailored to individual district needs as expressed in the PTA. Component 2 support will focus on the district level and below but will also support the medical region to fulfill their role of supervising and monitoring the districts.

- IDH may be periodically called upon to provide short-term technical assistance to G2G regions but will not base staff in these regions. During the course of this award, USAID anticipates transitioning up to three of the five IDH regions from subgrants under IDH to direct G2G assistance. A separate implementing partner (G2G Operational Support, G2G Ops) will provide technical assistance related to G2G. A joint transition plan by IDH, G2G Ops, and USAID will be developed immediately upon award to ensure the smooth transition of regions to G2G.
